

'MAPPING NASA', HESSLE ROAD, HULL

Artists: Bruce Williams and Chris Dobrowolski
Client: Gateway – the housing renewal 'pathfinder'

In 2009 Graham Roberts was Head of Public Realm at arc, the architecture centre for Hull and the East Riding of Yorkshire. In that role he initiated several public art projects including a substantial programme with Gateway – the housing renewal company.

'Mapping NASA' [Newington and St. Andrews] was a psycho-geographical approach to the understanding of place.

Among the artists commissioned were Bruce Williams whose steel banners have now been installed on Hessle Road, and Chris Dobrowolski whose installation piece reflected on his hitch-hiking days when a student in the city.

