CLIENT - CANTERBURY CITY COUNCIL & LAND SECURITIES, 2005

Whitefriars is a huge city centre redevelopment project, resulting in new shops, offices, flats and public realm. Working with Insite Arts, Hazel Colquhoun was part of the team devising and managing an extensive commissions programme. This included a number of temporary commissions during the construction programme by Susan Collins, Grennan & Sperandio and Marion Kalmus.

Janet Hodgson was involved with the project over a period of years, creating a series of temporary works in unoccupied shop units and designing a major permanent work "The Pits" for the public areas of the development (see the Pits project sheet for more details).
